Court permits old beats, supervisors run at-large

The old 800 to 8,000 population spread between Hancock County's supervisory districts will continue but every voter in the county will have a chance to elect the five supervisors.

That, in essence, is the result of last Friday's action in federal court in Jackson when the board of supervisors successfully staved off the one man, one vote edict of the previous week.

U.S. District Judge Harold Cox, speaking for the three-member panel assigned the Hancock redistricting case, dropped his redistricting ruling of the week before in view of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision just handed down in the Virginia Beach, Va., case.

On a petition from the supervisors for a stay and rehearing of his one man, one vote ruling, the judge permitted the supervisors to run at large from the old districts. He exempted justices of the peace and constables, also elected by beats, on the basis that these officers are not legislative and would not be affected by the at-large doctrine.

This method of electing local government boards had been permitted under the Virginia Beach ruling of the Supreme Court last Monday. It permitted at-large elections of supervisors using disproportionate resident districts.

Hearing a day-long succession of county reapportionment cases, the judge also permitted Jackson, Harrison and Pike Counties to elect supervisors at large in this Aug. 8's primary. Harrison made some minor revisions in its lines which were approved Tuesday but in the other two counties, the reapportionment will continue as heavy as in Hancock.

The federal magistrate chided supervisors for failing to "do their duty" in providing more equitable distribution of population before the June 9 qualifying deadline for the primary.

TELEGRAM FROM LBJ - Master Sgt. and Mrs. P.J. Benvenuti share excitement of their distinguished son, Peter, as they reread congratulatory telegram from President Lyndon Johnson.

For Benvenuti

LBJ scholar is latest accolade

President Lyndon B. Johnson, via a telegram dated May 25 from the White House, informed Peter James Benvenuti, Jr., that he has been named a presidential scholar of 1967. The telegram added: "Mrs. Johnson and I join in warm congratulations and invite you to meet with us in the White House on June 13. Complete details being mailed to you shortly."

This latest honor sharply distinguishes the 18-year-old Bay High senior and straight A student for three years. Benvenuti has already qualified for a full academic scholarship at Harvard. He is the son of Master Sgt. and Mrs. P.J. Benvenuti, who reside at 116 Felicity St. He is the grandson of Mrs. C.R. Beyer and the late Commander Beyer and Mrs. A.D. Benvenuti and the late Mr. Benvenuti.

Pete's $194 check to cover transportation and lodging arrived Saturday along with full instructions on his trip to Washington. He'll fly on Monday, June 12 and stay at George Washington University. That evening along with the other 120 presidential scholars, he'll be honored at a reception at Thurston Hall at the university. Capping off a full day of events Tuesday, there will be a formal reception at the White House at 5:30 p.m. when the presidential scholar medallions will be presented. Entertainment.

Airport should be finished in 2 yrs.

It will take about two years to build the new county airport if all goes right, representatives of Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineers, told the port and harbor commission at its meeting last Thursday night.

Details of airport construction, with bids on the initial phase due June 15, were a major topic along with a progress report on the West Hancock Industrial Park. Bids on the access road to it are due at 10 a.m. today.

Port men voted to ask the state Highway Commission to reconsider its position that the county will have to pay $5,093.39 if the commission is to revise its drainage plans for Interstate 10 in the vicinity of the airport. The commission is also going to ask the board of supervisors to intercede with Southern District Highway Commissioner John D. Smith, noting this to an election year.

The Bureau of Public Roads had written the highway agency, "since our present structure is inadequate for the highway needs, it is our opinion that the additional cost involved in the change should be borne by the port commission."

Funds to proceed with the industrial park at the airport are anticipated in the fiscal 1968 request to the Federal Aviation Agency, the port group was told. For now they will build a 4,500 foot runway and expect to add up to 6,000 or 6,500 feet in the next year. It will not be fenced until a further stage is ready, and instrument landing will be called for later as well. Commissioners Edward Schambach and Elliot Cosmova doubted that the FAA requirement for a four foot fence top of barbed wire would be sufficient for the area in

Quartet announce

Filing deadline is week away

Four more aspirants in the Aug. 8 Democratic primary, including one incumbent, made formal announcement of their candidacy in the Sea Coast Echo this week with the filing deadline just 9 days away.

Announcing for the Post 2 slot in the State House of Representatives district shared now with Pearl River County was Walter J. Phillips, the incumbent, and Bert Stieffel, Bay St. Louis civil defense director.

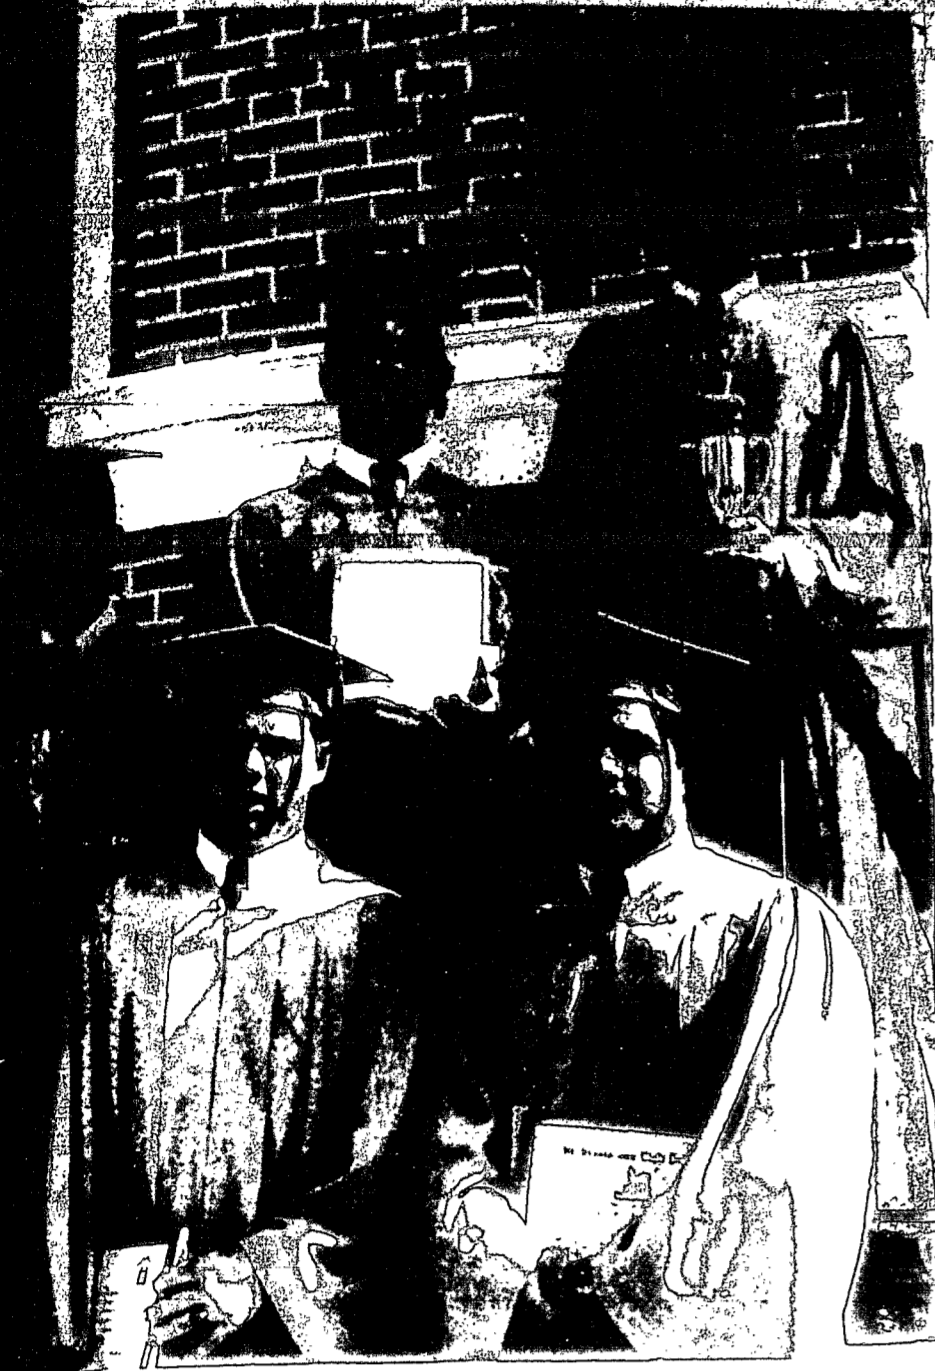

Two more entered supervisory races. Running for Beat 5 under the new county-wide voting set-up is Johnson Shaw of Sellers while Jerry Ladner of Waveland made known his plans to seek the Beat 5 slot. Meanwhile Leo W. Seal, Jr., secretary of the county Democratic executive committee, reports that candidates who registered with him when it appeared the county was redistricted by court order, need to re-register in their proper beats both with him and the Circuit Clerk Lamar Otto. Nine candidates qualified with the Democratic officials during the week. They include Melvin J. Ladner of White Cypress, for tax assessor; Dolph Kellar, incumbent, for Beat 2 supervisor; E.P. (Larry) Laroux and R.G. (Manny) Hubbard, incumbent, for Beat 5 supervisor; Emile Piazza for re-election as coroner and ranger; Outez (Ot) Lee for Beat 2 justice of the peace; James Oren Lee and Frank Selph, incumbent, for IP, Beat 4; and Asa Fayard, Jr., JP Post No. 1 in Beat 5.

Phillips, seeking a third term, played a leading part in securing passage of the state's new liquor laws during the 1966 legislative session as chairman of the House Temperance Com-

Family pair share honors at St. Rose

For the first time in the history of the American Legion in Bay St. Louis, the citizenship medals and certificates of the American Legion Post presented the high school award to graduating senior, Glenda Singleton and to her younger brother, eighth grader Maurice Singleton, Jr. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Singleton of Easterbrook Street.

Also presented with the Legion citizenship award was graduating senior Frank Rouzan, grandson of Frank Lyons of Waveland, and Lucinda Lizana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Lizana, St. George Street.

Glenda, valedictorian of her class, also won a $1,200 grant to Mundelein College, Chicago, Ill. Frank, salutatorian, plans to enter the school of Medical Technology of Los Angeles, Calif., City College.

Melanie Bohem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bohem, received a $200 grant to the workshop on speech therapy of Ohio University's summer school of communicative arts and a $1,600 scholarship to Redlands, Calif., University. She also won, but did not accept, a Yale University sponsored one year TV program all-expense scholarship.

A $1,960 scholarship grant from St. Mary's of the Woods in Wisconsin went to Shirley Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Collins of Waveland.

Glenda, Melanie and Shirley all have been awarded supplementary grants by the National Scholar Service for Negro Students, the exact amounts not yet known.

"A Conservative View"

by James J. Kilpatrick

Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington turned up the other day as a guest at one of those ham, chicken and tomato juice spreads at the Statler Hilton. He wound up by earning his free lunch with the kind of provocative remarks not often directed at the hands that feed you.

The occasion was a luncheon of the National Forest Products Assn. Its members had come to town with a sensitive chip on their burly shoulders. At every turn, it seems, they find themselves on the defensive against a federal government obsessed with the notion that land should be withdrawn from productive use and simply "preserved" instead.

"Within the past month," said the N.F.P.A.'s president Gene C. Brewer, "our industry has been obliged to rally to resist unthinking Scenic Trails, Wild and Scenic Rivers, National Redwood Park, and North Cascade National Park bills before the Senate of the United States. Each of these bills as put forward by the Secretary of the Interior would seriously reduce the nation's ability to grow trees and manage them in the public interest.
If all were to pass in their present form, the impact upon our public and private commercial timber lands would be catastrophic."

Senator Jackson comes from one of the major timber-producing States. Many of his constituents depend upon the forests for their livelihood. Appearing before such an audience, and coming from such a constituency, Senator Jackson might have been expected to make the conventional agreeable noises. He didn't. He looked the thousand timbermen dead in the eye, and told them,
in effect, to get with it.

"You're crazy," he remarked, in almost those delicate words, "if you don't believe that concepts of land use and property ownership are changing. Industries that depend upon the land will have to understand that there is a public interest in what they do with the land.
They ought to retreat from adamant opposition to all proposals for land acquisition; they have a responsibility to make constructive contributions."

Senator Jackson won the afternoon's only spontaneous applause for his and. He succeeded also in setting some disturbing thoughts in motion. For the Senator is exactly right. Call it socialism, or call it something else, a new doctrine of property is taking shape in this country. The old rule, embodied in the Fifth Amendment, used to teach us that no person could be deprived of his property without due process of law.

"nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation." The old rule is going through a sea change as we sail on to the 21st century.

Granted that rights of private property never have been absolute rights, and that public regulation of natural resources goes back a long way. Even so, some brand new trends are developing in public controls. You see them in West Virginia, where the legislature has turned upon the strip miners and said that their ugly depredations have to stop. You see them in proposals for anti-billboard legislation, which carry the concept of "public use" into aesthetic areas beyond anything recognized in the past. You see them in the "wild rivers" plan, which is predicated on the theory that no man may take fee-simple title to a beautiful river and despoil it as he pleases.

The trends run not only in the country,
but in the cities also. Under urban renewal, private property is not taken exclusively for public use, as in the building of a schoolhouse
or the creation of a park; such property now is acquired in terms of "public benefit," so that the unoffending restaurant of Owner A passes through a decontamination process and becomes the apartment house of Owner B.
Just outside the cities, the doctrine of "open spaces" takes root, and land that might be put to productive and profitable use gets reserved for the vistas of the next generation. Out in Washington, Senator Jackson noted, a new industry recently proposed to take over a pretty piece of countryside
for a factory. The local people are protesting at the top of their lungs. They would rather have the countryside than have the jobs.

The timber industry once had a poor public image as an industry that proposed to
"cut out and get out," leaving nothing but ugliness behind. Today that image has faded. Programs of sustained yield on forest lands offer one of the greatest stories in American conservation. Yet it is just as the Senator says: To an astonishing degree, the old clear lines that divided private interests from public interests are getting steadily more obscure. If cherished doctrines of private property are to survive at all, a responsible conservatism must recognize what is happening and offer something more than old slogans in a changing world.

Shots aren't fun Our readers write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Sometime ago an incident
happened to me when I was bitten and scratched by a rabbit
and the rabbit died.

I took the head of the rabbit to the Board of Health at Bay St. Louis and asked them to please send it to Jackson, Miss.,
to have tests made for rabies.

It was on Good Friday of this year. I asked that I be notified at once. Mr. Wade told me that on account of the weekend the report might be slow in coming in but he assured me he would let me know as soon as he heard from them.

The following Friday when I hadn't heard from him, I called him, he said there wasn't any report on the head spotted on the way to Jackson, and the ice melted, and I asked him what I was supposed to do. He said,
well, that is up to you - consult your doctor.

I called the Board of Health,
at Jackson and spoke to Emmerson. I asked him about it. He took my name and telephone number and said he would call me right back. I am still waiting for the call.

As a result of this negligent doctor's lady and myself
had to take the rabies treatment.

Is this the way the Board of Health takes an interest in our health? Doesn't a human life mean anything to anyone any more?

I hope in the future the more dread disease cases will be handled with more care than this one was.

Sincerely,
MRS. L. L. WARI
Bay St. Louis.

Merry-Go-Round

By Crow Peterson

WASHINGTON - President Johnson's first decision in the Near East crisis was that war had to be prevented at almost any cost—because if it were allowed to start, it would be almost impossible for the United States to intervene. For if we did it would virtually guarantee the loss of every American investment in the Arab world.

The President was not being simply mercenary. The oil of the Arab nations is vital to the Western world. And if U.S. and other Western rights were cancelled and then conveyed to communist countries, the impact would be far-reaching and long lasting.

This is why our State Department put such pressure on the Israeli government to avoid any act which might precipitate fighting. We knew that Premier Eshkol and Foreign Minister Eban could see the problems, but we also knew that they might have trouble controlling some of their military men, and that the Israeli people in general were cocky and confident of quick victory.

We also knew that any Israeli action automatically would draw in moderate Arab leaders such as Hussein of Jordan, Faisal of Saudi Arabia, and Hassan of Morocco. They not only wish to avoid war but distrust and dislike Colonel Nasser.
But their people hate Israel even more. And, once war started, it would be impossible for these moderate leaders to exercise restraint. They might be kicked out of power overnight.

On top of this, it quickly became evident that Russia was going to exploit the crisis to the maximum, not only to win prestige in the Arab world for years to come but also to squeeze
the United States on Vietnam.

Soviet leaders, despite their propaganda speeches, understand
American politics far better than many of our own politicians.
They clearly were calculating that the President, already in considerable hot water over war in the Far East, would not have public support for major involvement in another dangerous war in the Near East.

And if we should go it alone again, we would have to scale
down our effort in Vietnam.

In this "Hendy we win; tails you lose" situation, the Kremlin actually played it cool. On the Q.T. they brought pressure to prevent war, telling the belligerent Syrians to back off or face
he loss of some Soviet aid, and even warning Nasser to tone down his threats.

This did not mean the Russians would not keep the pot simmering; they just didn't want it to boil over into war.

The quickest and simplest solution to the crisis was one Israel previously had refused to accept: the placing of a U.N.
peace-keeping force on Israeli soil, preferably a force which would not include U.S. troops.

Even if the current crisis eases, such a U.N. effort may still be essential. Otherwise, fanatic Arabs will continue their terrorist raids and bring on the war there again. And while the Israeli army is well equipped and well trained, it would be a miracle if Israel's 2.5 million people could outlast the 80 million of the Arab world.

The war of a dictator

It's part of history that a dictator in trouble at home will make a dramatic move abroad to save himself. This is the chief factor behind Colonel Nasser's sudden moves against Israel. If he had not made his desperate bid, he might soon have been kicked out.

The Egyptian economy is down. Food resources are near exhaustion. The Egyptian people will soon face a starvation diet.
The Egyptian army has suffered a long and frustrating stalemate—almost a defeat—in Yemen.

There already have been plots against Nasser at home. The Muslim League came very close to assassinating him before his plot was discovered.

But if Nasser can defy the United States and push the hated Jews out of the Near East, he will become the greatest hero of the Arab world in a thousand years.

Israel's A-bomb secret

One big unanswered question in the Near East is whether Israel has an atomic bomb. American experts agree that she definitely has the capability to produce a bomb.

Israel has two atomic centers, one open to the public near Tel Aviv; the other south of Beersheba in the heart of the Negev Desert. This one is super secret. No foreign plane is permitted to fly over it; no foreigner has ever been admitted inside its walls.

Israeli scientists told this writer one year ago in Israel that it would not be difficult to build an atomic bomb if a nation wanted to spend the money.

President Kennedy, before his death, sent a guarantee to Israel that the Sixth Fleet would defend Israel from atomic attack—if the Israelis would give up the idea of building nuclear weapons. The Israeli government agreed not to build any bombs and has repeatedly assured the United States that no nuclear weapons have been produced.

But ex-Nazi scientists working for Nasser have given him an arsenal of modern weapons whose extent is not fully known, and whether Israel has aided by its commitment in the fact of this threat also is not fully known.

Oil in Vietnam

A switching locomotive and three cars were derailed in South Vietnam on the night of May 21 by a Viet Cong mine, killing six Vietnamese civilians and injuring five.

Shortly before the incident, by curious coincidence, a train loaded with gasoline passed safely over the same track.

No one can say, of course, whether the Viet Cong deliberately waited for the gasoline cars to pass. But this column has just received a bitter letter from an army officer who says sardonically that the safest way to travel in Vietnam is aboard an oil truck.

It is no secret that U.S. oil companies, which do a lot of breathe-breathing about their Americanism, pay tolls for access rights through communist controlled territory in South Vietnam.
The chief danger is that their trucks might run over a road mine intended for a military vehicle.

Service stations throughout South Vietnam have been largely untouched. The great oil depot at Nhabé, 20 miles from Saigon, has never been attacked, though the Viet Cong have exploded bombs right in the center of town.

When we first reported that the oil companies were paying protection money, they issued denials, claiming that the Viet Cong destroy 60 per cent of their Vietnam shipments. This prompted Sen. Aiken of Vermont to ask behind closed doors of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee how much oil had been lost in South Vietnam.

Gen. Earle Wheeler, the joint chiefs chairman, replied that it had amounted to only a fraction of one per cent.

GULF COAST REVIEW

This Department edited as a reflection of public opinion, no person having written of themselves or business

Duett's Moving and Storage Co.

In dealing out some of the more progressive business and professional people of GULFPORT we would be concerned should we fail to include Mr. Howard Duett of Duett's Moving and Storage, at 3205 D Avenue, Gulfport.

Mr. Duett has always been conscious of civic responsibilities and ever ready and willing to meet in every detail those opportunities which come to his attention to further civic enterprise, and in addition to this he has become the friend of many non-residents for the hospitality he has shown in the manner in which he treats his patrons.

Mr. Duett deserves a great deal of credit for the honest and successful manner in which he has conducted his business affairs. He is a friendly and likeable personality, whose sincere desire to be of service has gained for him a host of friends and acquaintances over the entire area.

Bohn's Dept. Store

In critical times such as these it takes businessmen of more than average ability and optimism to carry on their operations successfully, in making this statement the one we have in mind is Mr. Edgar Bohn of Bohn's Dept. Store, at 207 East Beach in Pass Christian. This business was established over 100 years ago.

His contagious optimism and freely expressed belief in the assured future prosperity of the people of Pass Christian and its metropolitan trading area are characteristics which are to be appreciated in a progressive businessman.

Mr. Bohn has a large circle of personal friends and business associates and he takes an interest in community activities.

Mr. Edgar Bohn of Bohn's Dept. Store who because of the outstanding character of his business and private citizen has his willingness to contribute to the public good, and who is deserving of a few words of commendation.

Fayard Sheet Metal, Heating and Air Conditioning Co.

In making this review of progressive HANDSBORO businessmen it is fitting that we include some of those men who have, by their aggressiveness, definitely established themselves in the business and civic life of the city.

On Sunday, Rev. Conatus Hayes, pastor of Annunciation Church, presented diplomas to the graduating class at Kiln.

Another fatal on U.S. 90

A 34-year-old Gulfport Negro became Hancock County's 16th fatality, 16th by automobile accident, as the result of a two-truck Memorial Day collision shortly before noon Tuesday on U.S. 90 about six miles west of Bay St. Louis.

Driver of the other truck was charged with manslaughter and was released Wednesday from Hancock County jail under $2,000 bond.

Robert E. Whitfield, driver of the 1960 Chevrolet pickup, was pronounced dead upon arrival at Hancock General Hospital. Two passengers, George Harris, 12, and Roy Polk, also Negro males of Gulfport, were given emergency treatment and released.

State Highway Patrolman Harold Skinner said Anderson Williams of Mobile, driver of the larger trailer-truck, was attempting to pass an automobile when he struck Whitfield's truck almost head-on, shoving him from the vehicle.

Williams, also a Negro, was uninjured. He vowed bearing before justice of the peace Nollus Rhodes and was bound over to the grand jury.

Home owner wins in 5th Betsy suit

Another jury returned a verdict for property owners against an insurance company in Judge Leslie B. Grant's Circuit Court last Friday upping the score to 4-1 against insurance firms in Hurricane Betsy cases.

The case was Mr. and Mrs. James V. Sharp vs. Monarch Insurance Co. of Ohio, the jury awarding $8,235 for the plaintiff on a 9-3 vote. But after arguments by attorneys on a motion for a new trial the judge ruled that if the plaintiff would remit $1,235 within 30 days he would not sustain the motion for a new trial. Monarch Insurance attorneys announced their client would remit the specified sum and judgment was reduced to $7,000.

The only criminal case heard since last Wednesday was the State vs. Andrew L. Thompson who pleaded guilty to burglary and drew a three-year term in the state penitentiary. He is alleged to have broken into the residence of Eddie Engman last Nov. 19.

police department in his native New Orleans, retiring in 1922 after 21 years and three months. For many years he was in charge of the department's Fifth District and in 1951 was the oldest living retired member of the police force.

Moving to Bay St. Louis on his retirement, he was elected alderman of the 1st Ward in 1926, and the following year was elected mayor. He was defeated in his bid for reelection by the late G.Y. Blazie. The captain's son, Warren Traub, is presently city commissioner of finance.

He was a vice president and director of Peoples Federal Savings and Loan Assn. and received his 50-year Masonic pin in 1957, being a member of Perfect Union Lodge No. 1. Son of the late Elizabeth Metzler and Jacob Traub, he was married to the late Anna Cora Daggar.

Besides his son, he leaves three brothers, Joseph, Jacob and Henry Traub; a sister, Miss Anna Traub, all of New Orleans; five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Rev. Lamar Martin, pastor of Main Street Methodist Church, which Captain Traub attended, officiated at the funeral. Masonic rites took place at the grave. Pallbearers were Sylvan Ladner, Jr., Nolan Ladner, Carl Arnold, J. Cyril Glover, Ennis Coulon and Edward Coulon. Captain Traub had requested that two pallbearers be chosen from his colleagues in the Masons, the New Orleans police force and the Spanish American War veterans but he outlived them all.

for Sheriff and Tax Collector

To the young people of this county, who are voting for the first time to whom I need no introduction because of the past years I have worked with them in scouting, churches, schools, and civic organizations. I earnestly solicit your vote and your support.

For the past 3 years I have served as a Deputy Sheriff without a salary from the sheriff's department and I have tried my best to favor everyone, especially the young people of this county or anywhere else if they had made a mistake.

I pledge to the people of this county, when I am their sheriff, if any of their children make a mistake, I will do everything in my power to help them out. I have five children of my own and someday they may need someone to help them. The biggest mistake I have found in the past 3 years has been keeping children locked in the county jail, without proper facilities. I believe they should be kept from contact with hardened criminals. If at all possible children should be turned over to their parents when they make a mistake.

News Briefs

VIETNAM DEBATE
Senators John Stennis and W. V. George will discuss opposing views on the Vietnam war in a special nationwide telecast Sunday on ABC's House and Network. It will be aired at 12:30 p.m. over WLOH and WLOH-TV, and at 4 p.m. over Jackson WJLT and Hancock WDAF.

NEW PASTOR
Rev. W. T. Douglas, administrator of Gulfport and Biloxi Bay District Assembly, has been named interim pastor of the new St. Paul's Baptist Church, Gulfport, following the resignation of Rev. B. A. Poy.

WINS DEGREE
Emilio M. Ramez of Bay St. Louis won a 1,500 graduate diploma from Louisiana State University award diploma in chemistry there last Saturday. She received a degree in secondary education.

OFF TO BOYS' STATE
Bay St. Louis and Gulfport delegates to Boys' State will board a special bus at 7:30 a.m. Saturday in front of the Sand Theater, Gulfport, to Jackson for the American Legion sponsored event. They will stay at Hinds County Junior College for the week. There will be in keeping with Mississippi's 150th anniversary of statehood.

SET BIBLE SCHOOL
First Protestant Church will conduct Bible School June 5-9 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. An evening program is planned for the closing day. Mrs. George A. Canaga will direct the school.

TO BAPTIST MEET
Rev. J. Wilbur Hall, pastor of Waveland First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Hall left Saturday to attend the Southern Baptist convention in Miami, Fla. This week. He will present a resume of the convention at Sunday night's service.

SODALITY MASS
Sodality of Our Lady of St. Clare's Parish will celebrate communion at the 7 a.m. mass Sunday.

OUTDOOR MASS
Mgr. James J. Hannon, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Church was celebrant of a 5:30 p.m. outdoor mass Saturday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., for Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus and their families. Approximately 80 families attended the social hour following the mass at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Heitzmann.

MYF ENTERTAINS
Main Street Methodist MYF entertained for seniors at the Sam Whitfield pool Sunday night. Tonight senior and college students of the church will be feted at a swimming party at the home of Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Clark and a barbecue following at the David McDonald home.

RETIREES - Mrs. Norton Haas is presented plaque from co-workers in Hancock County Welfare office by Mrs. John Chevie, secretary. Seated at left Mrs. V. J. Piazza.

Mrs. Haas retires after 19 years in welfare work

Mrs. J. Norton Haas, who had been associated with the State Welfare Department for the last 19 years, retired last week. She will be succeeded as Hancock County child welfare worker, a post she has held for the last year and a half, by Mrs. John Dugan, child welfare worker in Harrison County for six years.

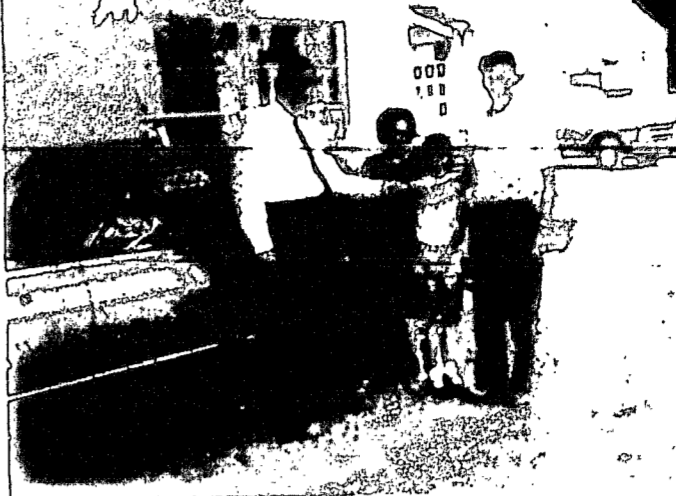

Mrs. Haas served as Hancock County welfare agent for 15 years and district worker for two and a half years before taking her present position.

Mrs. Haas was honored Saturday night by her co-workers at the home of Miss U. J. Lave.

Mrs. John Chevie, secretary, presented her a plaque from the office personnel inscribed, "Your selfless dedication has been for many years a guiding inspiration to the needy and your peers."

The table, covered with a lace cloth held a center arrangement of green grapes in a white ceramic container. The buffet was centered with a fountain of yellow tulle and stock flanked by tall brass candelabra holding golden tapers.

Guests were Mr. Haas, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Frankiewicz, Mr. and Mrs. John Dugan, Miss Christian, Mrs. Elsie White, Child Welfare Supervisor, Gulfport; William McLaughan, District XX public assistant super-

NIGHT SERVICE HELPS - Mr. and Mrs. J. G. King and daughter receive keys from Fritz Peranich to new Chevrolet. Mr. King likes the night and Saturday night service the Gerry Lane gives.

We live in Pass Christian and work at the Test Facility with G.E. We have been hearing a lot of nice things about the new Chevrolet Dealer in Bay St. Louis. We were vitally interested in service as well as work long hours and the only time I have to get my car serviced is at night and Saturday. So many places you go now a days offer neither one. When we heard of the night service plus all day Saturday, we decided to buy our car from Gerry Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis. We got a real fair deal from Fritz Peranich, who was very helpful and exerted no high pressure tactics, that you find in so many places. We would recommend to everyone to try Gerry Lane before you buy.

Mary, Mary starts tonight

Theater opens its first season with the comedy "Mary, Mary" directed by Mrs. Joseph Williams.

The play is composed of five acts and is directed by Mrs. Joseph Williams. The cast includes Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Joseph Williams, and Mrs. Joseph Williams.

The theater's annual membership drive for the Little Theater has been extended to coincide with the presentation of "Mary, Mary," both continuing through Saturday night of this week. Season tickets for all four plays to be presented during the year to come are still available and may be purchased at the door each night. Purchase not only affords a small savings to the theater-goer but support for one of the town's most enjoyable activities.

The stage setting for "Mary, Mary" was built and decorated by Mark Horne, Burt Barrett, Pete Chapman and Ronnie Barsteth. Mrs. J. R. Largent and Mrs. Art Sullivan are in charge of props. Mrs. Winifred Pennington and Mrs. Hilda Sallinger are costumes, and Mrs. Burt Barrett and Mrs. Charles Lorette are make-up.

Lights will be handled by Mark Horne and sound effects and stage coordinating by Mrs. B. H. Everling. Programs were designed by Mrs. Charles Lorette.

Hosts tonight will be Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner; for Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. William Hilliker; and for Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Moutrey and Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Hastings.

Paper company sells property for interstate 10

The State Highway Commission has paid International Paper Co. $115,000 for rights of way over its property in Hancock County needed for Interstate 10, according to a deed recorded last week at the Court-house.

A total of 509.59 acres to be involved in the transaction, the major portion being 442.04 acres for I-10 itself. The rest is for drainage and for relocation of local roads made necessary by the new interstate route.

Janice Beal fell in love with the new Chevrolet. She smiles as she receives keys to her new car from John Gallagher of Gerry Lane Chevrolet.

Janice Beal, 19, a student at the University of Mississippi, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beal of Bay St. Louis. She is the first of three children.

Winds were the prime factor regarding fishing the past week. The winds were strong and from the wrong direction, maddening up the water and making little fishing. Out at the marshes too much wind to bid for salt water fishing and up the bayou it affects fly fishing.

Wind also hinders floundering and coit crabbing. It muddies the water and causes wavy conditions so that the light will not penetrate the water, making it hard to see coit crabs and flounders.

Spealing of coit crabbing, it hasn't been like it should be. Crabs seem to be scarce and the few caught are small. Flounders are beginning to show a little better and the catching of flounders should improve right along.

William E. Gordon of New Orleans, originally of Bay St. Louis, is the newly elected president of the La Salle Bass Club. Billy has a lot of friends here. He spent his younger years in the Bay.

Ethel Carter, who owns a cottage at Clearwater Harbor, spends a great deal of her time enjoying fishing, crabbing, etc. She lives in New Orleans but comes over on every occasion.

E. E. Clifton of Lake Charles, La., spent a few days at the Bay. He does a little fishing but says hunting is his favorite sport. Came back again today, and enjoy come hunting with us.

Was a pleasure to see Carl Boldenberger, Jr., who is home on vacation. Carl is a member of the U.S. Air Force and has a lot of friends here.

Tony Esterate, Jr., and family spent the weekend with his grandparents, the Doc Elliotts. Tony got in some fishing, golfing and coit crabbing. He enjoys all kinds of sports, but to not too good at playing shuffle board. A little practice will help, Tony.

Shrimping has started and commercial fishermen are getting their share of shrimps. Some mighty big shrimps are being caught in Bayou Lafourche, according to Bobby Sargent.

For you fishermen there should be some real good fly fishing pretty soon near the mouth of Jordan River. Seems like when the shrimps move into the river the shrimps move down to meet them. This is according to old time predictions. As for us, we think they are right.

For those who like to fish with live crabs, Alfred Coppell usually has them at his shop on Joe's Bayou. Live crabs are a better bait when fishing for crabs.

According to all the Louisiana Conservationists of all the birds that inhabit Louisiana, ducks are the ones for which the state is best known for throughout the continent, the great Louisiana marshes are recognized on a duck and goose paradise. You can say that again.

Now is the time to catch red fish and speckles out in the marshes along with other salt water fish. Now for salt water fishermen to get a charter boat, the Savary-Cao takes out fishing parties to the marshes leaving from the Pass Christian Harbor. Drive to the Pass and make reservations. You'll be glad you did, if you like to fish.

Was glad to see Chick Spicior this week. Chick and I worked on the Pass Christian newspaper 49 years ago. He lives at the Pass.

Rubbing wet matches through hair will dry them. This has been done by fishermen for years. Throwing wet matches

BEST PRICE MILES AROUND—Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Garcia and daughter did a lot of traveling to find out that Herb Raron could give best price on new pick-up at Gerry Lane right here in Bay St. Louis.

We wanted a new pickup truck and wanted to shop around. We priced trucks in Wiggins, New Orleans, Gulfport and Slidell. We found the best price right here at our new Chevrolet dealership in Bay St. Louis. We also were concerned with service so this new truck carries a 50,000 mile or 5 year guarantee. Running back and forth to some other city could prove very time consuming and expensive over a 5 year period. We naturally would rather buy at home if the price was competitive. Gerry Lane actually saved us money, so we were glad to buy from Herb Raron and will certainly recommend Herb and Gerry Lane Chevrolet to everyone we meet.

I would also like to post this notice along with my testimonial - to all my friends and relatives - don't ask to borrow my new Chevrolet truck under any circumstances.
